Expert Security Advisory Services

Virtual CISO Services

Information security is increasing in importance, but not all organizations cannot afford to hire a chief security officer or specialists in security. eSecurity Solutions has focused on only security since 2003 and we have a team of experienced security experts that can provide your company with a virtual Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) to bridge this gap.

Looking for virtual CISO services?

Security breaches are increasing and cybercriminals are increasingly hacking companies of all sizes. Hacking kits on the internet are now available at a small price making hacking into corporate networks available to all criminals. Protecting your company from advanced real-time malware, internal employee data loss, and APTs is taking more and more expertise. Company boards and management teams, plus 3rd party partners such as customers and vendors are increasing requiring companies to be compliant with a multitude of security regulations.

As part of our CISO service, eSecurity Solutions can function as a senior security executive in your company. We can:

- ⇒ Guide you through annual security planning
- ⇒ Defining security strategy and goals
- ⇒ Determining the level of acceptable risk
- ⇒ Defining and implementing security and compliance governance
- ⇒ Coordinating compliance activities and communicating with regulatory groups
- ⇒ Help define security budgets and most appropriate security solutions
- ⇒ Help define Security policies & processes
- ⇒ Review current internal security controls
- ⇒ Be a readily available expert security resource saving you time and money
- ⇒ Attend monthly or quarterly executive meetings and board meetings
- ⇒ Provide other advisory input as required

We recognize the importance of this role and only our most experienced and seasoned consultants provide virtual CISO services. This team consists of highly experienced consultants that are well versed in risk management techniques. All of eSecurity Solutions' virtual CISO consultants have strong backgrounds in leadership and are experienced in engaging with directors and C' level executives.
